

Ein Sof

An Endless Path

Ein Sof is a printable, free, and infinitely variable pattern based on the eternal human symbol of a labyrinth or trail. You determine the shape of the final result as you see fit. There is no predetermined shape. It can be as large or as small as needed.

To start, print out as many pieces as you want, and then line up the pieces end to end on any surface and tape, glue, etc. each of the pieces in place. If the white of the paper overlaps part of the path, cut or tear it off.

No section of the path may overlap another section. If more sections are required, print only that page or the specific parts needed. Some parts will be used more than others.

Ein Sof is available for free at:
thatssointernet.tumblr.com/Ein_Sof

